One day, after watching himself in the mirror
for three hours, sid
yawns a big yawn.

“Oh, dear,” says sid.

“I am very tired. I think

I will take a nap.”

sid pats sis on the head. “You look tired

too. You should also take a nap.”

sid puts sis on her shelf and then climbs in bed. "Have a nice nap," says sid as he closes his eyes.

When sid takes a nap, he snores. This makes the cage shake, and sis falls off the shelf.

Bonk! sis lands on top of sid.

sid wakes from his nap. "Now, now, don't be naughty," says sid.
"This is nap time, not play time."

sid puts sis back on the shelf and then gets back in bed. Soon, sid is snoring and making the cage shake again.

Bonk! sis falls on sid again. "Oh, you silly mouse," says sid. "You are much too old to sleep in my bed."

sid puts sis on her shelf and gets back in
bed. Bonk! sis falls on sid again!

sid shakes his head.
“sis, why don't you want to nap on
your shelf?”

sid looks at the shelf and sees that there is no pillow or blanket. "Aha!"
says sid. "I think you need a bed of your own."

Because sis is a toy and can't speak, sid answers for her. "Oh, yes," says sid for sis. "You are so clever to think of that."

sid puts a pillow on the floor, and then he

puts a blanket on the

pillow.

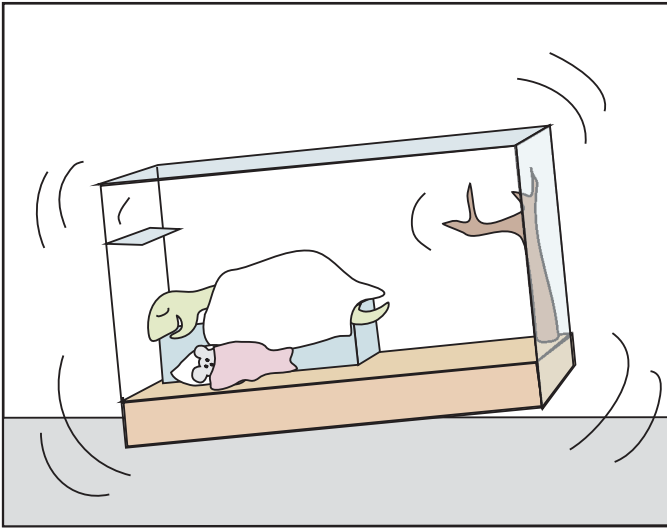

sid tucks the blanket

around sis. "There

you go, sis," says sid.

"Now you can nap

in your very own bed."

sid crawls back in

his bed to finish his

nap. Soon, his

snores are rocking the

cage.

sis lies in her own little bed. Although she is a toy and doesn't have a mouth...

...if you close your eyes and pretend, you can see a happy little smile
on her face.
