Quick Start Guide

Read the book WITH your child. You read the “regular” text, and he/she reads the big, red words, sort of like reading the different parts in a play.

Help your child sound out the words as needed.

Read the book several times. This helps develop the eye muscles and left-to-right reading patterns that are necessary for reading.

Don't rush it. Body builders don't train in a day, neither does a child.

If your child is having difficulty, he/she might need more practice with the alphabet. Get a fun book about the alphabet and read that lots of times. Then come back to Progressive Phonics.

And most important of all, HAVE FUN!

Word list:

bug dug hug mug
rug tug

up cup pup

but cut hut nut

bun fun gun run sun

gum hum yum tum

mud bud

How does a bug
give another bug a hug?
Does a bug give a hug
with a bump of its head?
Does a bug give a hug
with an arm or a leg?
Or maybe a bug jumps
up in the air to hug
another bug when they meet on the stair.

My dog dug a hole in the garden; he wanted to bury a bone. But the hole that he dug was as big as a rug, so he buried the bone, the car and the phone in the very big hole that he dug.

My cat likes to sleep on a little red rug. She has slept on that rug all her life. But the dog and the turtle and the parrot, Miss Myrtle, all want to sleep on the rug. They each grabbed a corner and started to tug. They pulled and they tugged – it was tug, tug, tug – until they each had their very own rug.

I left some milk in my big,
blue mug, and I left the
mug on the rug.

A few days later, I found my mug. I looked inside and said, “Ugh!” Something was growing inside that mug – green and gross
and totally yuck.

There’s a cloud up there,
way up in the sky,
white and fluffy,
and up really high.

I wish I could sleep
up there on the cloud.
I would climb up there now
if I only knew how.

I poured some milk into a cup, and when the cup was all filled up, I took the cup to a little pup, and the little pup drank up all the milk in the cup.

I want to eat this nut, but I can't seem to chew it.
I want to eat this nut, but my teeth can't cut through it.
A nut would be nice,
a nut would be good,
but this nut is as hard as a piece of wood.

Monkey number one in the monkey hut was mean to all the monkeys in the monkey hut. “I am king,” said monkey number one, “and in this hut, no one can have fun.” But monkey number three and monkey number two didn’t want a king to tell them what to do. So they walked right up to the king of the hut, and they threw him out of the monkey hut.

I want to play trains, but my brother says no. I want to play outside, but my brother won’t go. I want to kick a ball, but I broke my toe. I guess I will sit and pick my.... nooooo I won’t, that’s much too rude – but my nose has an itch, and I don’t know what to do.

Why do you say I'm greedy?
 I'll share with you if you're needy, so let's cut this apple in two –
 a piece for me, and a piece for you.
 No, let's cut this apple in three –
 one piece for you and two for me.
 No, that won't do...
 Let's cut this apple in four –
 I'll have it all and want some more!

The sun is big,
 and the sun is yellow.
 The sun is like
 my lemon Jello.^{TM.}

Are we having fun yet –
are we having fun?

We thought it would be lots of fun to watch the grass grow in the sun.

I like to run – I really do. I can run, run, run much faster than you.

If you want to run as fast
as me, you need another foot – I run with three.

A baker baked a cinnamon bun
 as big as a house – it weighed a ton.
 That cinnamon bun was lots of fun,
but it got sticky in the sun.
 The sugar on top of the cinnamon bun
 started to melt and started to run.
 The baker said, “oops,” and he started to run. The sugar chased the baker all down the street, which is why you never bake a bun that’s much too sweet.

Ice cream is so yummy
yum. I like it in my tummy tum. So I want lots of yummy
yum to put inside
 my tummy-tum.

I like music and I like to hum. I can hum to almost any song. I would much, much rather hum a song, than mess up the words and get it wrong.

I like chewing bubble gum, so I chew a lot of gum. But when I put gum inside my mouth, big, bad, bubbles keep coming out.

I didn't do it – it wasn't me. I didn't get mud on my two little feet. It was the mud that walked in the door, and the mud left mud footprints all over the floor.

I picked a flower bud and gave it to my sister. She tried to eat the bud and cried until I kissed her.

Mix it up

When a child is comfortable reading the “Big Red Words” in this book, he/she is ready for “Mix It Up” – the part of the book where the child practices reading a variety of short vowel words.

What’s the right way to get rid of a bug? Do I say goodbye and give it a hug? And what if the bug is in a mug? Do I tip it out all over the rug? And what if the bug crawls up on my toe? Do I scream and holler or just say, “No”?

And what if the bug is waving a gun? Do I call a cop or get up and run?
I just don't know, that's why I ask, because
the bug is on you...
and off me at last.

I want to have some fun
in the sun. I want to hop and jump and run. But I am in bed with the chicken pox, and I am covered with a zillion dots.
Why is it called the chicken pox? Is a chicken hiding, somewhere in a box?

Or maybe a chicken is under my bed, making a nest and laying an egg.
All I want is to go out and play – I wish these chickens would all run away.

There's a lady bug on the flower bud, but I really don't know where. The bug is red, and the bud is red – the bug is in bed but I can't see where.

THE END
